

Be Seen Adventure: A Safety Quest

Objective: In the "Be Seen Adventure" game, children will learn about the importance of staying visible and safe when walking or cycling.

Workshop Setup: Set up a physical space with different stations representing safety challenges. Each station focuses on a specific safety tip, such as wearing bright clothes, using reflectors, or crossing streets safely.

Avatar Creation: Children create paper or cardboard avatars, decorating them with bright colors and reflective materials.

Safety Challenge Stations: Children move from station to station, completing activities related to visibility and safety. For example, they might design and attach reflective accessories to their avatars or practice crossing streets using traffic signs.

Collecting Reflectors: As children complete challenges, they earn paper reflectors or stickers that they can add to their avatars.

Parade and Show: At the end of the activities, children participate in a mini-parade, showcasing their customized avatars and discussing what they've learned.

Key Takeaway: The "Be Seen Adventure" game teaches children about pedestrian and cyclist safety in a fun and interactive way. By participating in hands-on activities they learn essential safety habits that help them stay visible and secure in real life.
