Live Active Strategy 2016 – 2026

Quality active recreation and sport opportunities for all makes Edmonton a desirable city in all four seasons in which to live, learn, work and, most importantly play.

This strategy provides a road map for supporting the active recreational and sporting needs of all Edmontonians.

The Benefits of Walking

Walking... a healthy journey!

Ranked the number one activity of choice among Canadians, walking is a prescription for improved health and wellness.

- Releases the body's tension and stress.
- Refreshes the mind and body, especially when walking outdoors.
- Allows you to connect with your community.
- Offers an excellent way to socialize with family and/or friends.
- Increases "eyes on the street", enhancing community safety.

Walking with your Dog

Edmonton has over 40 locations where you can enjoy your walk while your dog is off-leash. Please remember that all sites where dogs are permitted to be off-leash are multi-use areas used by all. Your dog must be leashed when not in a designated off-leash area. The dog icons show on this map are placed in the approximate location of each off-leash area, but do not show the precise boundaries. For more information, including details on off-leash boundaries, check the Parks for Paws Brochure or go to edmonton.ca (keyword off-leash)

There are 1,440 minutes in a day, schedule 30 of them for walking!

Additional Historical Information on McCauley

The following booklets are available as PDF downloads at bmcnews.org/pamphlets

McCauley Then and Now

By Gary Garrison and Sara Cournantarakis. Photographs by Alistair Henning. Edited by Paula E. Kirman.

This book's purpose is to make the history of one of Edmonton's oldest neighbourhoods more accessible to its residents and visitors. It includes three walking tours that can be done separately or as one long walk.

The Churches of Edmonton's Church Street

By Shannon Brennan, Sara Cournantarakis, and Gary Garrison. Photography by Shannon Brennan, Adrian Cruces, and Paula E. Kirman.

Along a five-block stretch of 96 Street, there is perhaps the greatest concentration of churches in Canadian history, with more than a dozen still standing.

McCauley — Little Italy

Giovanni Caboto Park, built in 1913, is in the heart of Little Italy and provides recreational opportunities and a public green space for the neighbourhood, the park features a modernized splash park, playground, and a beautiful canopy of trees. In the park sits a statue of Frank Spinelli, who opened the Italian Centre Shop in 1959. Caboto Park and its surrounding area hosts numerous neighbourhood festivals and events throughout the year. At the East end of McCauley is the site of Commonwealth Stadium, built to host the 1978 Commonwealth Games. The stadium is located adjacent to the existing Clarke Stadium which opened in 1938. The Commonwealth Recreation Centre includes an aquatic centre with a lane pool, leisure and tot pool, whirlpool, steam room and waterslide, a field house with artificial turf, a fitness centre, jogging track, and a number of multi-purpose program rooms. McCauley residents say they "...are proud of McCauley as a vibrant, safe, colourful, and diverse neighbourhood. We embrace ideals of community connectedness and vitality for all those who walk our sidewalks, reside in our homes, work and shop in our businesses, and are cared for in our neighbourhood."

The McCauley community was founded in 1935 and takes its name from Matthew McCauley, a well known businessman who later became Edmonton's first mayor. The McCauley neighbourhood is in the heart of Edmonton and is known for its diversity of residences, businesses and cultures. The City of Edmonton, incorporated in 1892, grew up around 97th Street. In 1912, a street car began providing transportation for the many new immigrants and workers moving into the area. With the increase in residents, a multitude of churches and cathedrals sprung up along 96th Street, also known as Church Street. It has been featured in Ripley's Believe It Or Not because there are more than fifteen churches that line the street, including the beautiful brick structure of Sacred Heart Church of the First Peoples, built in 1913. Travelling along 97 Street between 105 A Avenue and 107 Avenue, you will find an abundance of Asian restaurants and shops that sell unique produce, merchandise and traditional Chinese Medicine.

This booklet is an introduction to the area north of downtown Edmonton known as Chinatown (唐人街) or, in some circles, North Chinatown. In it, you will find descriptions of what is in the various corners of the district, cultural and historical information, and profiles of people who have lived and worked here.

Chinatown: A Cultural Dynasty in McCauley

By Gary Garrison. Editing and photography by Paula E. Kirman. Cultural Consultant: Lan Chan Marples.

A history and contemporary overview of First Nations and Métis life in the McCauley neighbourhood.
